

Go to <https://www.tutor2u.net/geography/blog>

There are a multitude of relevant, up to date and interesting geographical articles here to whet your appetite for A level study and introduce you to some higher level reading.

Choose 5 articles to read and summarise – you can do this however you like (eg bullet points, a mind map). Include at least:

- One article on climate change
- One article on plastic
- One article on human geography
- One article on hazards
- One article that particularly stands out to you – perhaps you find it particularly interesting, worrying, uplifting, alarming, or surprising.

You could also use documentaries, podcasts, books etc instead of the articles (or as well as) – there is a big list of them on the 'Bridging the Gap to A Level' document.